BEAUTY OF LIBERTY.

“In all things that have beauty there is nothing to me more comely than liberty.”

When the dance of the shadows

At the check of the morning

Are red with the sun—

With the fire of the glory,

At the first of the view,

And calls up the planet,

To blaze in the blue—

There is beauty, but where is the beauty to see

More proud than the sight of a mattox when few?

When the beautiful bend

Of the bow is above,

Like a color of light,

In the bosom of love—

When the morn in her midness

Is floating on high,

Like a damer of silver—

Hangs out in the sky—

There is beauty, but earth has no beauty to see

More proud than the front of a nation when few?

When the depth of the darkness,

Unveiled in hue,

When the shadows are veiling—

When the stars are bright,

When the voice of the tempest,

At midnight is still,

And the spirit of solitude—

Sails on the hill—

There is beauty, but where is the beauty to see

More proud than the broad beaming brow of a nation when few?

free?

Chapter on Boys.

Boys! What a world of fizzled heads, dirty faces, chapter-hands, and crooked, toothless boots! This simple little monologue suggests, Boys! living, moving institutions of mischief and sport! Creatures, who run, tumble, scratch, bite, scream, chatter, and hamper their way through the world with the greatest possible impudence and nonchalance. They are the things which so worry the dignity of Old Foulke, who tries to keep them in rows, but fails, for they are like crooked pins—can't be kept straight.

They turn the house-up side down, keep a continual uproar in the streets, bicker things every way; make life a misery, and threaten to pull it to pieces. They are all parading. They are found in the woods, in the fields, in the streets, in the piazzas, in the cellar, in the barn, in church, in taverns and saloons, in stores and shops, on trees, under ground—everywhere; and over the same noisy, jostling, original bairns, “They wait not upon care, but away they dash upon their reckless train, apparently heading nothing—lost in the giddy whirl of their sports—yet not a single more is made, nor a word is uttered by the old Governor, but their ready eye and ear catches it and lays it up in their贮藏库 of incidents for future consideration.

A Yankee and a Frenchman owned a pie in co-partnership. When the killing time came, they wished to divide the meat. The Yankee was very anxious to divide so that he could get both hind-quarters, and persuaded the Frenchman that the way to divide was to cut it across the back. The Frenchman agreed to do it on condition that the Yankee would turn his back and take the choice of pieces after it was cut in two. The Yankee turned his back accordingly.

Frenchman—Which piece will you have—one piece will go tail on, or a piece will have got no tail?

Yankee—The piece with the tail on.

Frenchman—Zou yar you can take him, I take ze ozer one.

Upon turning around, the Yankees found the Frenchman had cut off the tail and stuck it into the pig's mouth!

Bulls.—Specimens and varieties of the famous animal are numerous. There are the sculptural bulls of Bashan; the astrological bull of Zodiac; the mythological Cretan bull slaughtered by Theseus; the agricultural Durham bull; the ecclesiastical bull of the Pope; the historical bull Apis, of Egypt; the sacrificial bull of China; the military horse bull on the old Roman shield; the monetary bulls on “change; the Juvenile bull at Cog Robin's funeral; the musical Ole Bull; the imperial John Bull; the national Irish bull, and the American Bull Run.

We respect and venerate the pulpit and the true minister of God within their proper sphere. But history and our own experience prove to us that these are not always consecrated to the duties and service of that sphere? Indeed, we do not hesitate to express our conviction that at this moment the pulpit, in the occupancy of thousands of professed ministers of God, is the most distasteful thing in America, and has been more guilty than the press, wicked as that has been, in the instigation of those deeds and practices which have caused the rupture of our once happy Union.—Balt. Sun.

Before her marriage, the Queen of England was a wayward and fitful young woman—subject to the most variable caprices, and entirely uncontrollable by her ministers. Shrewd politicians have always ascribed the calm and equable course of British policy to the influence of Prince Albert, who was one of the most shrewd and accomplished diplomats.

When Dr. Franklin was making his first experiments in electricity, he wished to try its effects on a hen, and while holding the wire to the bird, it struggled and he received the whole charge himself. On recovering from the shock, he good naturally remarked that “instead of killing a hen by electricity he had nearly killed a goose.”

In the space of forty years Mexico has had no fewer than fifty-five different governments.

“One asked Mr. Patrick McGuire if he knew Tim Duffy? ‘Know him?’ answered he, ‘why, he is a very near relative of mine; he once proposed to marry my sister, Kate.’

Sudden Deaths.

Dr. Hall, in his Journal of Health, says that very few sudden deaths which are said to arise from disease of the heart do really arise from that cause. To ascertain the real origin of sudden deaths, the doctor says the experiment has been tried in Europe, and reported to a scientific congress held at Strasburg. Sixty-six cases of sudden deaths were made the subject of a thorough post-mortem examination. In these cases only two were found who died from disease of the heart. Nine out of the sixty-six died from apoplexy, while there were forty-six cases of congestion of the lungs; that is, the lungs were so full of blood they could not work, there not being room enough for a sufficient quantity of air to enter to support life. The doctor goes on to enumerate the causes that may produce congestion of the lungs.—

Mr. Gripe, the usurper, to whom a six-piece always looks as large as a cart-wheel, is in the habit of holding his breath while the tailor measures him so that his garments will require less cloth.

Some of the medical journals are much distracted about the custom of lying in bed:

the habit of being out of bed is, we think, a great deal more to be guarded against,

No doubt honesty is the best policy, but those who do honest things merely because they think it good policy are not honest.

Share that you may speed; fast that you may feast; labor that you may live; and run that you may rest.

Difficulties and strong men like stop and raze, are made for each other.

The story that Mrs. Eunice Bradley, residing in Trumbull county, Ohio, had recently been blessed with eight children at a birth, turns out to be untrue.

The Committee on the Investigation of Contracts have before them several contracts signed by Simon Cameron as Secretary of War, though he sent a communication to Congress declaring that he had never made any contracts all such being drawn up by the head of his bureau.

Pulpit politicians are poor things in this country, and there are many indications that this style of preaching has abdicated to pugilism. The filling off of $10,000 in the revenue to a Brether's press in one year, is not the least significant among the signs.—Hartford Times.

THE IRISH BRIGADE.

—Ais—Red, White and Blue.

Respectfully Appropriated to Brigadier Gen'l.
THOMAS FRANCIS MEAGHER, U. S. A.

Ye sons of green Erin assemble,

And join in the battle array;

The usurpers and traitors shall tremble;

When we see the Brigade in the fray.

March on to victory,

Let the last of your might be displayed;

And the trumpet of fame shall sound loudly.

The praise of the Irish Brigade, &c.

Chorus.—The praise of the Irish Brigade, &c.

Old “Erie” now looks o'er the ocean,

And bears the fierce hangle of Mars,

And rouses for the stripes and stars,

And she raises her voice loud as thunder,

That voice which was always obeyed,

Saying “boys” cut the rebels under

With the sword of the Irish Brigade.

Chorus.—With the sword of the Irish, &c.

In view of the guilt and the treason,

The troubles of Liberty sigh;

Let us all defend her in season,

And bring back the joy of her eyes,

Her strength and her stripes dry you proudly,

Never let your manhood be delayed,

Till the last of the fight is over.

When charged by the Irish Brigade,

Chorus.—We're the boys of the Irish, &c.

Graham Meagher, in General

the United States Cavalry,

He fights with the Star Spangled Banner,

The house of the free and the brave,

His soldiers they all love him sincerely,

And his honor will never degrade,

While his arms are spoken reverently,

By the boys of the Irish Brigade, &c.

Chorus.—By the boys of the Irish, &c.

Onward to the field they march proudly,

Those defenders of the Union arrayed,

Whose fame is now spread far and wide,

While the rebels look sad and afraid,

Forward—Forward—Forward,

Let the star of the glory descend,

Down the rebels' tomb and tomb,

We're the boys of the Irish Brigade,

Chorus.—We're the boys of the Irish, &c.

General Meagher Assuming Command of his Brigades.

At the formal reception, in General Sumner's Division, of Brigadier General Thomas Francis Meagher, whose appointment had recently been confirmed by the Senate, the Irish Brigade made a grand demonstration. The General had right to assume command of the brigade until after his appointment was confirmed. Since those Irish regiments were on the Virginia side of the Potowmack, and joined General Sumner's Division, Colonel Nugent, of the Sixty-ninth, was acting Brigadier General. At noon General Meagher, accompanied by Major Warington, Captain Trainor, Jr., Reynolds, of the Eighty-ninth Regiment, who is to be Brigadier Surgeon; Major O'Neill, commander of the battery; Captain Hogan and Mahon, and several other artillery officers, rode over the Long Bridge to the camp-ground. General Shields joined the party on the ground. The brigade was drawn up in line, on a commanding eminence, a few miles from Alexandria.

When Gen. Meagher and cohorts, splendidly mounted, were riding up the Hill, the brigade presented a brilliant appearance.

He was received by Col. Nugent, who rode a cream-colored charger.

The General and party rode along the line, after which the troops passed in review. The men were in excellent spirits. Each of the regiments looked remarkably well. The Sixty-third was under command of Lieut. Col. Fowler. Lieut. Col. Burke, recently of the Thirty-seventh New York Regiment, who has just been appointed Colonel of the Sixty-third, in place of Col. Enright, will take command of the regiment. The Irish flag and Stars and Stripes were carried side by side in each regiment. When Gen. Shields arrived on the ground the brigade marched in review again. After the review the officers of the different regiments came forward and formed a semi-circle. Then Colonel Nugent transferred the command of the brigade to Gen. Meagher.

Larceny.—A negro was arrested yesterday and committed to jail by Justice Belder, to answer the charge of larceny. It appears that he coolly and deliberately stole two pieces of cloth from the store door of Daniel Eppley. He gave the name of Richard

J. Johnston, and acknowledged himself a fugi-te slave, and said he came here in company with three others. If this is the kind of chaff that we get now, what may we expect if the Abolitionists carry out their objects of freeing the slaves, and pouring upon us a horde of thieves and beggars, who can only be kept in the paths of rectitude by a task-master?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alternative power as to afford an effective antidote for disease. Sarsaparilla is reported to cure: Skin diseases, it is said, will be cured; and those suffering from Scrofulous Complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of imminent service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found in the following complaints:—

Scrofulous and Scrophulous Complaints, Eruption and Eruptive Diseases, Ulcers, Hemorrhoids, Bladder Stones, Salt Rheum, Sciatic Neuralgia, and Nephritic Affection, Neurotic Diseases, Dropsey, Neuralgia or Tic Doloreux, Debility, Dyspepsia and Indigestion, Enragesias, Rose of St. Anthony's Fire, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from Impurity of the Blood.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel all the humors which fester in the blood; at the time of the year when the excretion of these many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruption, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alternative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities troubling the system, and in painless and easy manner, it is when you find it is obstructed and sluggish, in the veins, cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. When no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with the pulsation of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is deranged.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla, and the manufacturer of the same itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as will rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtue which are irreducible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure.

OF THE SEASON—GEORGE ARNOLD

has just returned from Philadelphia with a large quantity of second hand goods.

He has sold a very short time—the proportion of those who head others recommend it, who had tried it. That's a sufficient discovery is every where acknowledged, and nothing like it was ever before prepared.

The only genuine English Oil is Prog. Dr. Gratt's, which is to be had at all the respectable Drug-gists in the cities, and at wholesale and retail, at the proprietors' prices at the agent here. See advertisement.

GREAT DISCOVERY!—Ample tests, both by able practitioners and chemical analysis, have demonstrated the great value of Prog. Dr. Gratt's beautiful combination; called "ELECTRIC OIL," for the relief and cure of pain—But the people themselves are rendered blind, veridical in a manner, how unaccountable and mysterious is this!—One million bottles have been sold, in a very short time—the proportion of those who head others recommend it, who had tried it. That's a sufficient discovery is every where acknowledged, and nothing like it was ever before prepared.

is being prepared.

Many persons carry with them a badbreath,

great to the annoyance and often to the discomfort of those with whom they come in contact, without being conscious of the fact. To review yourself from all respects regarding this,

BEAUTY OF LIBERTY.

"In all things that have beauty there is nothing to man more comely than liberty."—Milton.
When the dance of the shadows
At daybreak is done,
And the cheeks of the morning
Are red with the sun—
When he sinks in his glory,
At eve from the view,
And calls up the planet
To blaze in the blue!

There is beauty, but where is the beauty to see
More proud than the sight of a nation when free?

When the beautiful bend

Of the bow is above,

Like a collar of light—

On the bosom of love—

When the morn in her mildness

Is floating on high,

Like a banner of silver—

Hung out in the sky!

There is beauty, but earth has no beauty to see
More proud than the front of a nation when free?

In the depth of the darkness,

Unvaried in hue,

When the shadows are veiling

The breast of the blue—

When the voice of the tempest,

At midnight is still,

And the spirit of solitude

Sails on the hill—

There is beauty, but where is the beauty to see
Like the broad beaming brow of a nation when free?

Miscellaneous.

A Chapter on Boys.

Boys! What a world of frizzled heads, dirty faces, chapped hands, and crooked, toes boots this simple little mono-vable suggests. Boys' living, moving institutions of mischief and sport! Creatures who run, tumble, scratch, bite, scream, chatter, and hammer their way through the world with the greatest possible impudence and nonchalance. They are the things which so worry the dignity of Old Foge, who tries to keep them in rows, but fails, for they are like crooked pins—can't be kept straight. They turn the house up side down, keep a continual uproar in the streets, bairn things every way, make life a misery, and threaten to pull creation to pieces. They are all pervading. They are found in the woods, in the fields, in the streets, in the aisle, in the cellar, in the barn, in church, in taverns and saloons, in stores and shops, on trees, under ground—everywhere; and over the same noisy, jostling, orginal bairns. They wait not upon care, but away they dash upon their reckless train, apparently heading nothing—lost in the giddy whirls of their sports—yet not a single move is made, not a word is uttered by the Old Governor that their ready eye and ear catches it and lays it up in their storehouse of incidents for future consideration.

A Yankee and a Frenchman owned a pig in co-partnership. When the killing time came, they wished to divide the meat. The Yankee was very anxious to divide so that he could get both hind quarters, and persuaded the Frenchman that the way to divide was to cut it across the back. The Frenchman agreed to do it on condition that the Yankee would turn his back and take the choice of pieces after it was cut in two. The Yankee turned his back accordingly.

Frenchman—Vieh piece vill you have—ze piece wil ze tail on him, or ze piece et hant got no tail?

Yankee—The piece with the tail on.

Frenchman—Zen-by gar you can take him, I take ze over one.

Upon turning around, the Yankee found the Frenchman had cut off the tail and stuck it into the pig's mouth!

Bulls.—Specimens and varieties of the famous animal are numerous. There are the scorpion bull of Bashan; the astrological bull of Zodiac; the mythological Cretan bull slaughtered by Hercules; the agricultural Durham bull; the ecclesiastical bull of the Pope; the historical bull Apis, of Egypt; the sacrificial bull of China; the military boss bull on the old Roman shield; the monetary bulls on "Change"; the Juvenile bull at Cook Robin's funeral; the musical Ole Bull; the imperial John Bull; the national Irish bull, and the American Bull Bull.

We respect and venerate the pulpit and the true minister of God within their proper sphere. But history and our own experience prove to us that these are not always consecrated to the duties and service of that sphere? Indeed, we do not hesitate to express our conviction that at this moment the pulpit, in the occupancy of thousands of professed ministers of God, is the most disloyal thing in America, and has been more guilty than the press, wicked as that has been, in the instigation of those deeds and practices which have caused the rupture of our once happy Union.—Balt. Sun.

Before her marriage, the Queen of England was a wayward and fitful young woman—subject to the most variable caprices, and entirely uncontrollable by her ministers. Shrewd politicians have always ascribed the calm and equable course of British policy to the influence of Prince Albert, who was one of the most shrewd and accomplished diplomats.

When Dr. Franklin was making his first experiments in electricity, he wished to try its effects on a hen, and while holding the wire to the bird, it struggled and he received the whole charge himself. On recovering from the shock, he good naturedly remarked that "instead of killing a hen by electricity, he had nearly killed a goose."

In the space of forty years Mexico has had no fewer than fifty-five different governments.

One asked Mr. Patrick Maguire if he knew Tim Duffy? "I know him," answered he, "why, he is a very near relative of mine; he once proposed to marry my sister Kate."

Caution is speed when danger is to be passed.

OUR FLAG!

The union of lakes—the union of lands—
The Union of States none could sever—
The union of hearts—the union of hands—
And the flag of our Union forever!

H. J. STABLE, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

GUTTYSBURG, PA:

MONDAY MORNING, FEB. 17, 1862.

Congressional.

In the United States Senate, on Monday last, Mr. Davis (Ky.) presented a petition from citizens of Maine, asking Congress to drop the discussion of the negro question, and attend to the business of the country sustain the President and General McClellan, and support the Constitution.

Messrs. Sumner and Trumbull presented abolition petitions.

In the House, Mr. Crittenden (Ky.) by unanimous consent, presented a petition from Philadelphia, proposing that on the 22d day of February, Washington's Farewell Address be read in either House of Congress, by the President or the Speaker of the House, in the presence of the members of both branches, and that the President and his Cabinet, the Ex-Presidents, Judges of the Supreme Court, representatives of foreign governments, officers of the army and navy and distinguished citizens be invited to attend, and that the proceedings of the day including the prayer be printed in pamphlet form and largely distributed. That the address or portions of it be read at the head of the armies and on shipboard as the highest incentive to our brave defenders. The petitioners also pray that Congress pass a joint resolution to carry the above into effect.

Mr. Lovejoy (Ill.) proposed an amendment, that at the same time the Declaration of Independence, and Secretary Stanton's order to the army after the battle of Mill Spring, be read. Agreed to—yeas, 78, nays, 57.

Mr. Crittenden's resolution, as thus amended, was then adopted.

The Senate, on Tuesday, adopted a resolution to celebrate the 22d of February by the reading of Washington's Farewell Address.

Mr. Sumner, of Mass., presented a long series of resolutions "declaratory of the relations between the United States and the territory once occupied by certain States, and now usurped by pretended governments, without constitutional or legal right." The position taken therein is that by secession the law is overthrown within the borders of those states, so as to put them in a territorial condition, and thus render slavery illegal therein. They were laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

The House determined, after considerable debate, that the Hon. Joseph Segur was not entitled to a seat as a member from Virginia. Yeas, 40, nays, 53. Mr. McPherson voted in the affirmative.

The Senate, on Thursday, after a long debate, passed the bill from the House, in an amended form authorizing the issue of $150,000,000 in treasury notes. The clause making them a legal tender was retained in the bill, but an amendment was adopted allowing them to be funded in two years' bonds bearing 7 3-10 per cent. interest.

What soulful speculations may be indulged concerning the sphere of duties of the General in chief, it is certain that the most cordial and friendly relations exist between him and the President and Secretary of War.

Another expedition, to be placed under the command of Gen. Butler, is being fitted out at Boston. The vessels already loaded or loading with troops and stores consist of the ships Undaunted, North America, Idaho Ocean Pearl, Wilder Farley and Western Empire; also some steamers. The 14th Maine Regiment, 1st Maine battery, 2d Vermont battery and 4th Massachusetts battery of the New England division have embarked. The entire division will consist of about ten thousand men. At what point it is intended to strike is not known.

General Heintzelman, it is said, is to be placed in command of a new grand expedition to the South, the details of which are as yet kept secret.

Gen. Hunter declares martial law throughout the State of Kansas, and declares the crime of jayhawking shall be put down with a strong hand and summary process.

The Secretary of War directs that officers and soldiers who are or may be taken prisoners shall, during imprisonment, be entitled to the same pay as if in active service.

The unfortunate town of Harper's Ferry was again the scene of stirring events on Friday week, resulting in the greater portion of it being reduced to ashes. A Rebel flag of truce having approached the river a boat was sent over to them, which was fired upon and one of the boatmen killed. Colonel Geary immediately ordered the shelling of the houses in which the Rebel riflemen were concealed, including the Wager Hotel, all of which were subsequently burned. Another Rebel flag approached the river, but Colonel Geary warned them off, refusing to receive it.

Rev. Mr. Stewart, an Episcopal clergyman, was arrested for treason, at Alexandria, on Sunday week, for refusing to pray for the President as it is in the regular forms.

Petitions are being daily presented to the Legislature of New Jersey, for a law to prevent the immigration into that State of negroes from the neighboring States.

Timothy Titcomb—Dr. Holland says that four requisites are needed for a man to procure admission into good society—Blood, Breeding, Brains and Bullock. The latter is the surest of all.

With the taking of Fort Henry the United States flag now flies at certain points in all the seceded States, except Alabama, Arkansas and Texas.

What Gen. McClellan has Done.

When General McClellan shall be ready to make any great movement in Virginia, he will take the field in person, and during his absence from Washington, it is probable that the ordinary duties of the "General Commanding the Armies of the United States" will be assumed by the President, acting through the War Department, or some other arrangement will be made by which McClellan will be enabled to do what he desires. If he were to continue the routine duties of the Commanding General he must remain a fixture in the Capital, and this is not at all according to the wishes of that gallant officer. He has made a grand army, and he has planned the campaign.

In the present position of the forces, says the Journal of Commerce, there is reason to believe that the progress of events in the West, and on the Eastern coast, may soon make the desired opportunity for active operations in Virginia. These operations will not be an attack on Manassas, but whatever they are, we have no doubt they will reflect the highest honor and praise on the young Commander, whose coolness, judgment, and magnificent abilities have brought the entire army to its present condition in all parts of the country, and have prepared for it the movements soon to be made.

In order to avoid exciting suspicion, both officer and prisoner were directed by Provost Marshal Gen. Porter to travel in citizen's dress from Washington to New York. Upon arrival in this city Captain Snyder proceeded at once with General Stone to Fort Lafayette, and committed him to the charge of the commanding officer of that post.

General Stone expressed surprise at his arrest. He declares that he is entirely innocent of having committed any act of disloyalty, and asserts, with seeming confidence, that he has no fears of the consequences, and will soon be at liberty again if justice is done him.

A great complaint has been made against the General of late, because he ordered some slaves to be sent back to Mr. Smoot, who is an extensive miller, on the Virginia side, opposite to Fredericksburg, and also because General Stone has allowed Smoot to run his mill day and night for the accommodation of the rebel army, when it could easily have been destroyed by the guns of General Stone. It is stated that General Stone's reason for not destroying Smoot's mill is, that the latter is a loyal man, as an evidence of which fact the rebels seized and confiscated all of his horses, and would not allow him negroes to go back when sent under our flag of truce.

Gen. Stone is a native of Massachusetts, graduated at West Point, and distinguished himself in Mexico; some accounts state that his arrest was ordered by Gen. McClellan, on account of damaging facts which have come to his knowledge, whilst others have it that the arrest grows out of the misrepresentations of Abolitionists, who have resolved on his fall, because he would not accept their views in regard to fugitive slaves along his line. The court martial will doubtless act as law and justice shall dictate.

Arrest of Gen. Crittenden.

The Nashville (Tenn.) papers announce that General George B. Crittenden, in the Confederate army, who commanded in conjunction with General Zollicoffer at the battle of Somersett, Ky., has been arrested on very serious charges. Gen. C. is a son of Hon. John J. Crittenden, of Kentucky, and his friends allege that the charges against him are unfounded. The Nashville papers, however, comment severely upon his conduct, as will be seen by the following extracts:

The Nashville Gazette has a slashing article on the "Sin of Drunkenness," pointing out the sins of thinking Americans will vain, nation of thinking Americans will ensure. The present aspect of the radical newspapers, after the failure of their insane plans to overthrow the Union for the sake of erecting on its ruins a "higher law" government, would be pitiable were it not for the persistent malice with which they continue their enmity to Gen. McClellan. Let the nation understand that what the army now is, we owe it to him. That if his enemies had succeeded in their designs to destroy him, if they had even been able to divert him from the line of duty to reply to their attacks, the present array of strength would never have been made, and the hope of the Union would have been in reality as dark as the radical paper in their elation and disappointment seek to represent it. When a newspaper of this class contains an attack on the Commanding General, it may generally be regarded as presumptive evidence that he has given the nation some new proof of his ability and has shown its enemies some new reason for believing their cause hopeless. There is a striking resemblance now in the remarks made on McClellan by the secessionists and the abolitionists. Both abhor him heartily, and both seem to regard him as the grand enemy of their plans. Is not the coincidence remarkable?

Sick of the Negro.

The Journal of Commerce says the following petition is being circulated in Ohio for signatures. In Jefferson township, Franklin county, the county in which Columbus is situated, the petition received the signatures of two hundred and forty-one out of two hundred and fifty-four voters:

To the General Assembly of the State of Ohio:

We, the undersigned, voters of Franklin county, Ohio, in view of the information made by the President of the United States, in his message, that by an act of Congress, and by laws of some of the States, to be hereafter enacted, many of the negroes, held as slaves, may be set at liberty, and fearing that they may wander into Ohio, to the great damage of the white inhabitants of our State, and especially to those who have to depend upon their labor to support themselves and families;

We, therefore, respectfully ask your honorable body to enact a law so stringent in its provisions as totally to prohibit any negroes from emigrating into, settling or holding property in Ohio.

And, if not in conflict with the Constitution, that you also cause those now in Ohio to be removed in as reasonable a time as your judgment may suggest, and that you make it the duty of the trustees of the several townships to see that said law be faithfully enforced.

Coming from Ohio, this movement is very ungracious, for, excepting Massachusetts, that State has manifested more solicitude for the negro than any other, and should at least take her full share of all the negroes that may be emancipated.

A Dilemma.

At the recent election in Illinois for members of Constitutional Convention, the Democrats achieved a glorious victory, literally sweeping the State. Consequently, the Convention, which has just convened at the State Capitol, contains a large majority of Democrats—in fact, nearly three-fourths of the body are members of that party. The Republicans are very much worried at this, and are fearing (poor souls), lest the Convention should by its action secessionize the State. But a lucky idea occurs to them in the midst of their gloom and despondency, which is, that the Government should arrest by a lettre de cachet the Democratic members of the Convention and confine them in Fort Warren. This ridiculous proposition we find in a letter to the New York Times from Chicago. Such a proceeding would be a slight stretch of power, the letter admits, but then just to think of the unparalleled audacity of the Democrats in out-voting the Republicans,

The Union, the Constitution and the enforcement of the laws! This is an excellent motto. Whoever is against the Constitution is against the Union. The Union exists by virtue of the Constitution. The destruction of the Constitution is the destruction of the Union. They are indissolubly connected.

An order was issued from the War Department, on Monday last, directing the arrest of Dr. Ives, Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, charged with conducting himself as a spy, and of violating the rules and regulations of the War Department. He was sent to Fort McHenry.

With the taking of Fort Henry the United States flag now flies at certain points in all the seceded States, except Alabama, Arkansas and Texas.

Timothy Titcomb—Dr. Holland says that four requisites are needed for a man to procure admission into good society—Blood, Breeding, Brains and Bullock. The latter is the surest of all.

Arrest of Gen. Stone.

Brig. Gen. Clas. P. Stone was arrested at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning, and taken to Fort Lafayette, upon the following charges:

1st.—For misbehavior at the battle of Ball's Bluff.

2d.—For holding correspondence with the enemy before and since the battle of Ball's Bluff, and receiving visits from rebel officers in his camp.

3d.—For treacherously surrendering the enemy to build a fort or strong work since the battle of Ball's Bluff under his guns without molestation.

4th.—For a treacherous design to expose the flag to the Southern paper—were received, bringing news of the complete success of Gen. Burnside's expedition to Roanoke Island.

The Island was taken possession of, and Commodore Lynch's fleet completely destroyed.

Elizabeth City was attacked on Sunday, and evacuated by the inhabitants, who fled in consternation towards Norfolk and other points.

The town was previously burned, whether by our shells or by the inhabitants is not certain.

The first news of the great defeat of the rebel army arrived in Norfolk on Sunday afternoon, and produced the most intense excitement. The previous news received there had been very satisfactory and encouraging, stating that the Yankees had been advanced to advance for the purpose of drawing them into a trap.

The rebel force on the island is supposed to have been only a little over 2,000 efficient fighting men.

Gen. Wise was ill at Naz's Head, and was not present during the engagement.

When the situation became dangerous he was removed, to go to Norfolk.

All the rebel gunboats but one were taken, and that escaped up a creek and no doubt was also destroyed.

A report received at Norfolk says that 70 and another only 25 escaped from Roanoke Island.

Gen. Hugo telegraphed to Richmond that on'y 500 on the island had escaped.

The Richmond Examiner of this (Tuesday) morning says, in a leading editorial:

"The loss of our entire army at Roanoke Island is certainly the most painful event of the war."

The intelligence brought by the telegraph yesterday is fully confirmed. Our 2,500 brave troops on the island, it seems, were exposed to all the force of the Burnside fleet. They resisted with courage, but when 18,000 (!) Federal troops were landed against them, their retreat was cut off by the surrounding element, they were forced to surrender. This is a repetition of Hatteras on a large scale.

THE VERY LATEST.

The following is the very latest. We copy from the Norfolk Day Book of this (Tuesday) morning:

"A courier arrived here yesterday afternoon about three o'clock, from whom we gather the following information:

"The enemy advanced in full force upon Elizabeth City yesterday, (Sunday,) about seven o'clock, and began an attack upon that place. The citizens, finding resistance to be vain, vacated the place, but before doing so set fire to the town, and when our informant left was still in flames.

We have also to record the capture by the enemy of all our little fleet except the "Fancy" or "Forest," our informant is not certain which. This eluded the enemy and made up the Pasquotank river. She is pursued, however, and fears are entertained that she too will be captured.

"It is said that before our boats surrendered they were all adrift, and their crews succeeded in making their escape. If we are at all to lose by conjecture why they were not fired before being abandoned.

"The disaster to our little fleet is not certain which. This eluded the enemy and made up the Pasquotank river. She is pursued, however, and fears are entertained that she too will be captured.

"The disaster to our little fleet is not certain which. This eluded the enemy and made up the Pasquotank river. She is pursued, however, and fears are entertained that she too will be captured.

"Upon the morning of Saturday, Feb. 16, 1862, the 2d inst., the 14th Maine Regiment, 1st Maine battery, 2d Vermont battery and 4th Massachusetts battery of the New England division were embarked. The entire division will consist of about ten thousand men. Is not this coincidence remarkable?
